[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO OCTOBER 25.

Cincinnati Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 24.—It is proposed to erect a new building for the use of the Mercantile Library.

Yesterday W. K. McNiel was arrested on a charge of counterfeiting. He is supposed to belong to a gang of noted counterfeiters for changing the denominations of greenbacks.

Cuban News.

HAVANA, Oct. 24.—The action of the United States in the case of the Hornet gives great satisfaction here.

The newly arrived troops leave for the seat of war without delay.

Much sickness continues to prevail in the eastern end of the Island.

Curacoa dates are to the 9th inst. Many refugees from Venezuela and San Domingo had arrived there. No further shocks of earthquakes have been experienced inland.

Vessels Collided.

DETROIT, Oct. 24.—The propellers Comet and Hunter collided at two o'clock this morning, eight miles below here. Both vessels were sunk but no lives were lost.

More Accounts of Fillibusters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The World publishes an account of the landing of a Cuban expedition on the coast of Cuba, from the steamer Lillian. It is stated that an expedition, comprising a thousand men, sailed some time since in two divisions on the Lillian. After several hairbreadth escapes from capture by American and Spanish cruisers, the Lillian, on a fourth attempt successfully landed her men, but before all the arms and ammunition were landed a Spanish gunboat hove in sight, and the Lillian immediately weighed anchor and started for Vera Cruz eluding her pursuer. She was finally captured by a British man of war, and it is reported subsequently released. It is reported that she was captured by a Spanish war steamer, but the report is discredited by the Cubans here.

From Jamaica.

KINGSTON, Oct. 9.—Government demands security for the costs in the action brought by the owners of the schooner Lahore, for damages on account of her seizure.

The cane crop promises an abundant yield.

Brooks' Assailants Found Guilty.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—Shortly before ten this morning the jury in the Brooks case rendered a verdict of guilty against Morrow and Dougherty. Neil and McLaughlin have been held in $20,000 bail to answer the same charge. Morrow and Dougherty were kept under a strong guard all night for fear of their being rescued. After daylight they were removed to prison.

West Indies—South America.

SAN JUAN, (Via Havana) Oct. 13.—According to the new tariff all agricultural implements are admitted free. No cases of yellow fever or cholera are on the island.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Oct. 9.—Salnave's war steamer sailed recently with provisions for Cape Haytien which is besieged by the rebels. While on his way he met the rebel steamers Quaker City and Florida. A sharp fight ensued, the details of which are not yet received. Both sides claim a victory, but reports are so contradictory that it is impossible to state the result of the conflict. Gen. Chevallier, Salnave's Secretary of War, has commenced the siege of Jacmel. The rebels are confident of their ability to hold the town.

CARACCAS, Oct. 7.—Gen. Monegas, with 10,000 men and four steamers and several sailing vessels left on the 2d inst., to operate against Gen. Pulgar at Maricaibo.

There was an earthquake on the 3d inst. at La Guayara. No damage is reported.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Delano has made an important modification of the regulations in regard to distilleries and the kind of material to be considered in the estimated capacity of stills. Only the hours actually occupied in distilling are to be considered in estimating the amount to be returned. This removes the fruit distilling interest from the deficiency tax. Liberal treatment is to be applied in cases where this deficiency tax has already been asserted. It is asserted that vintners selling wine of their own manufacture are not liable to license.

The forthcoming report of Treasurer Spinner will show that the increase of collections and decrease of expenses for the six months ending August 31st 1869, amounted to $56,000,000, as compared with a corresponding period in 1868.

Murder in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—J. H. Wood, ship carpenter, killed his wife with an ax. He afterwards cut his own throat. Cause, jealousy and too much rum.

Spanish and Cuban Affairs.

MADRID, Oct. 25.—A Cabinet Council of unusual duration, was held to-day. A cabinet difficulty is anticipated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The Herald has a narrative of the cruise of the Cuban steamer Lillian. Her command at last accounts were on a desolate key near Nassau awaiting the vessel which had been seized and subsequently released by the British authorities. Gen. Christo, the life of the expedition, has returned to this city. It is stated that the cause of failures and disasters is traceable to jealousies among the officers.

The Cuban press take the correspondents of American papers in Havana to task for commenting on the condition of affairs on the Island. They say they have at most the right to remain there as impartial correspondents.

St. Thomas dates of Oct. 16th are received. Gold had risen to 1800 thus causing an additional depreciation in the national currency. The rise was caused by the brokers.

Salnave applied to the British Admiral to send vessels to protect Port au Prince against the threatened bombardment by rebels.

Many of the prominent brokers have been arrested and sent on foot with General [illegible]'s army.

The Government monopoly of office has been re-established, but it has no money to pay holders of ships loading for logwood.

Reduction of Expenses.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The reduction of the army expenses on account of pay and subsistence alone during the last year is twenty six million dollars. The expenses of the civil employees of the department have been reduced from ten to fifteen thousand. The reduction in naval expenses is four millions a year.

The Treasury Solicitor went last night to New York to investigate the affairs of General Butterfield's office. The railroad commissioners will report soon on the Pacific Railroad.

Miscellaneous.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24.—The annual Fair of the Maryland State Agricultural Society, suspended for several years, will be reopened on Tuesday next. A committee goes to Washington tomorrow to invite the President and Cabinet to attend.

ALBANY, Oct. 24.—Among the property destroyed at Weed, Parsons & Co.'s by fire on Friday night was the edition of the Assembly Journals of last session.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Fire last night destroyed Dodd's express stables. Loss $12,000. The assistant foreman of engine No. 14 fell from the tender while going to the fire and was instantly killed.

BOSTON, Oct. 24.—John Maguire, carpenter of Boston, was the holder of the ticket that drew the Coliseum building.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Parepa Rosa, with the opera company have arrived. They narrowly escaped a serious accident a few miles from the city at midnight, the engine being thrown from the track. Some members of the party were considerably bruised, but none seriously injured.

CINCINNATI, Oct. [illegible]—It is thought the Board of Education will exclude the Bible from the public schools.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. [illegible]—Dr. White of Aurora, Ills., was found dead at the Everett House, having committed suicide by taking morphine. He left a note requesting that his body be sent to his father at Aurora.

A barge belonging to the Mississippi Valley Transportation Co., laden with [illegible] barrels of flour, sunk to-day at the levee. The cargo was insured.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—There was an immense demonstration in favor of Fenian amnesty to-day by large processions formed in various parts of the city, headed by bands of music bearing flags and banners inscribed with significant mottoes. They marched to Hyde Park. Several thousand women wearing green ribbons and scarfs walked in the procession. At the Park during the afternoon a monster mass meeting was held at which it is estimated that 50,000 persons were present. The meeting was addressed by several persons. Resolutions demanding amnesty for Fenians were adopted by acclamation, after which the meeting ended and the people quietly dispersed. The proceedings throughout the day were orderly. Great precaution had been taken by the Government and the officers of the police were all on duty and troops were assembled at the barracks.

MADRID, Oct. 23.—The country is tranquil. The Bishop of Osabina and several Protestants were arrested at Granada.

MADRID, Oct. 24.—In the Cortes yesterday Gen. Prim said if the Ecumenical Council should adopt decisions hostile to the Spanish constitution they would be treated by the Government as null and void.

PARIS, Oct. 24.—It has been decided that no military review shall be held on the 26th inst.

An Imperial manifesto is expected to appear to-morrow. Many rumors prevail in regard to its contents but nothing is positively known. Some journals assert that the Government is making enormous military preparations to prevent any public demonstration on Tuesday.

Pere Hyacinthe not having returned to his convent as ordered by his superior, has been dispossessed of all his charge.

Gold Discoveries in Alaska.

(From the Alaska Times, Sept. 25.)

The party of miners who went up in the neighborhood of the Tarkou country, to prove the truth of the Indian reports, concerning the existence of gold there, and of which we made mention two weeks ago, have returned to Sitka.

They left this place on the Revenue Cutter Lincoln, which was bound for the Auk country with Gen. Davis and staff to inquire into some slight disturbance that had occurred a little before. Among the miners were James Strichan and Fred Douglass. The Cutter landed the party with their implements, food, etc., which had been principally furnished by our townsman, David Shirpser, at a place called Lent Ten. Two days canoe voyage brought them to the creek where the Indians said they found the gold.

There they found a village of what they supposed to be Kake Indians, the tribe whose villages on Kou Island Gen. Davis had destroyed last spring, as one of the chiefs had a paper or certificate which entitled him as of that tribe. This stream empties into the bay, about opposite Kake or Kou Island, a little north by west. They found five other streams emptying into the bay near together, and upon examination found gold in all of them, but the richest deposit was found some four or five miles up the main stream at the foot of a fall or cascade of some hundred feet or more. They state the water is sufficient to furnish miners with all the water power necessary to work the entire flats. All of the creeks are so situated that they can be turned one into another and thus leave the flats dry. The Indians say these creeks are nearly dry in the summer. One California pump worked with water power from the falls, would drain a section. In the beds of these creeks they found scale gold. Below the falls mentioned they found rough ingot and scale gold. They are confident that with proper mining implements, they can make twenty dollars a day. They commenced panning out and averaged twenty cents to the pan, but as soon as the Indians saw they were keeping the little particles found in the sand, they became troublesome, threw down the sand as fast as they shoveled it up, took away their ammunition, some of their provisions and stripped Douglass of all his clothes. They asked if the Boston men intended to build houses there, to which the men replied they did not know. They said they didn't want the Bostons to live there, and they would not let them. They ordered the miners away, and threatened to kill them if they did not go. They spoke severely of General Davis and said if they had him there they would cut off his head. They also denounce the Tarkou Indians.

These men have told their story in a plain unvarnished way and we believe what they say is entitled to full credence. They are practical miners and are anxious to return, but wish to be accompanied by an armed party. Our citizens feel deeply interested in this favorable report and especially as samples of the gold scale and ingot are before us the best evidence possible of the truth of the discovery. Next spring there will be a good deal of stir among us to test the value of these diggings, and not only these but the placer and other mines discovered on the Copper, the Tarkou and Chilcat.

The evidences of Alaska being a gold bearing country accumulate weekly, and we do not doubt that ere long it will be found as rich in the precious metal, as any other portion of the Pacific Coast. The coast mountains of Alaska are a continuation of the great Sierra Nevadas, whence all the rich ores have been taken. Our people are very sensible for although we have known of the existence of gold for two years, we have never tried to create any flash excitement or bubble, a home for money making. And we shall never allow ourselves as a newspaper to publish any account unless we are convinced it is true. We desire population but we wish it a steady, sure emigration—a people understanding what they must encounter and that labor and capital is required—hand in hand—to upbuild the Territory and a future State.

Already we have found close to the coast, and bordering all along it copper mountains of iron, vast beds of coal, and mountains of marble. Our waters, too hold the wealth of a nation and our forests are sufficient to build the commerce of the world.

All these are only matters of strong inducement for the immediate organization of a civil government that we and the country at large may quickly realize from the purchase money of Alaska.

We look forward hopefully but not enthusiastically. We feel strong in the conviction that despite all that is said condemnatory of our Territory, ten years will see it as populous as Washington Territory or British Colombia is to day.

The New Secretary of War.

Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oct. 13.—William Worth Belknap was this morning appointed Secretary of War, vice General Sherman. He is a son of the late Colonel Belknap, of the regular army, who died in the service. He is an educated and cultivated man and while a Republican, his friends here represent him as an active politician. He was a lawyer in Iowa at the breaking out of the war and entered the service as Major of the Fifteenth Iowa, in which rank he commanded his regiment at Shiloh. While Grant's army lay at Young's Point he was Provost Marshal of the Seventh Army Corps. He commanded an Iowa brigade during the Atlanta campaign and was promoted Brigadier General for bravery in the battle of the 22d of July where McPherson was killed. After the march to the sea he was breveted Major General at Savannah and assigned to the command of a division in the Seventeenth Army Corps. He continued with his division on the march through the Carolinas and was with it in the battle of Bentonville. In 1866 he was made Collector of Internal Revenue in Iowa, which position he has held to the present time. At the Internal Revenue office he is regarded as one of the best officers in the service. Civilians here [illegible] him and so are surprised at the appointment. Western army officers and those who were with him in the field regard the selection as a very good one. General Sherman speaks in high terms of him. It is understood that General Rawlins suggested Belknap's name to the President when the latter requested Sherman to write and see if he would accept if appointed. Belknap replied in the affirmative. The President then telegraphed to him to remain and finish up his present business. The new Secretary telegraphed that he would be here in ten days.

The Great Mississippi Bridge at St. Louis is progressing very rapidly towards completion under the energetic hands of the engineers in charge. Since June from 1,000 to 1,500 workmen have been constantly employed. Capt. Eads furnishes a full report of his methods of fixing the piers, lowering the stone, constructing air chambers and air locks, sinking cisterns, etc., in the Missouri Weekly Republican of Sept. 29th.

THE WEST.

The Alaska Times has received a lot of fine crab apples which grow near Fort Tongass.

The Sheriff of San Francisco advertises the Herald office for sale. The printers, editors, etc., want their salaries.

If a man in White Pine happens to remark that he is not a candidate for office, there is an immediate rush of people to get a look at him.

The California Pacific Railroad has entered suit against the Central Pacific for the title of a strip of land in Sacramento, which each desire for railroad purposes.

A hunter in Montana recently killed four grizzly bears, two deer and one elk in fifteen minutes. It is not stated how many fish he caught in the same time.

They are in a bad way for beef at Sitka. The editor of the Alaska Times hasn't tasted any for more than six months, and writes about it in a style that is decidedly wolfish.

The amount paid out to the workmen at the Mare Island Navy Yard last month, approximates closely to $200,000. A large number of the men will be retained through the winter.

A couple of Nimrods came across a full-grown California lion, while hunting in Sierra county last week. One of them dropped his gun and was soon ensconced in a tree. He hadn't lost any lion.

The Klamath Postoffice at Willow Creek, has been discontinued on account of the business being so very light, and convenient to the Yreka Postoffice, by the stage passing it for Oregon every day.

Alexander McDonald, Esq., President of the Miners' Union of Great Britain, an organization embracing some 60,000 men, is now in San Francisco, having come to this coast for the purpose of examining the opportunities it offers to immigrants.

The Sitka Times of the 18th September says: On the subject of fish we never witnessed such a sight as we did last Tuesday morning. The tide washed them in by the million, and they were so thick that it would take but a moment to fill a bushel basket. The tides have been washing the small fish ashore in great quantities, and for two bits you can purchase enough to last a family six months.

A fireman on the locomotive of the Central Pacific train bound west, a few nights ago, fell from the side board while in the act of oiling the engine. The train proceeded some two miles before he was missed by the engineer, when a search was made. The man was found rolled up against a wall and asleep, being partly stupified by the fall. The accident occurred a short distance this side of Promontory, the train traveling at a high rate of speed.

The Oakland (Cal.) Tribune says: "One of the great need of California is that the land monopolies should be broken up. Until this is done, we cannot expect any rapid increase of our population. If the next Legislature will propose an amendment to the Constitution, prohibiting discriminating taxation against large aggregations of land and will pass a law compelling Assessors to tax large estates at their full value it will do more to promote immigration than all the societies the merchants of San Francisco can get up."

The guerillas in Santa Clara county (Cal.) are again endeavoring to prevent the employment of Chinese laborers by farmers in that vicinity. A few days ago, Gen. Naglee received an anonymous letter threatening the destruction of his property by fire, if he continued to employ Chinamen. The San Jose Patriot says that letters have also been received by Burkett, Metcalf & Co., proprietors of a planing mill, making like threats of destruction of their property if they did not dismiss every Chinese laborer on their premises. The teachings of the largest of the Democratic press continue to bear fruit.

There is need of a good, efficient civil government in Alaska, if the following from the Times be not greatly overdrawn: "From the beginning Alaska and its people have been treated as outlaws, felons and desperadoes. Its citizens have been cramped in every movement towards its development, and crushed summarily in every effort towards its prosperity. The rights of commerce have been trampled upon; the rights of citizenship have been discarded, the vital interests of the territory have been crushed out of very existence, life liberty and property [illegible] and notwithstanding all these things there is no means of redress."

FRESHEST GLEANINGS.

Milton Page, of Alexandria, N. H., has [illegible] one hundred and twenty-five eggs at a sitting. He bears his yolks easily.

John Gravel Munn, a native of Springfield, Mass., who has resided at the Sandwich Islands since 1820 died on the 18th September at the age of seventy-one.

The records of the expedition of Sir John Franklin and the skeletons of about one hundred of his men still remain to be recovered. The manuscripts are doubtless deposited in a vault on King William's Land, a little way westward from Cape Victory.

The Freshmen and Sophomores of Yale College recently had a regular pitched battle at the close of a game of ball. One would think that between ball playing, rowing and fighting, mighty little study was being done among the college students of the present day.

Fifty thousand pounds of brass are annually consumed for shoe-string tips in the United States, all of which is manufactured in Waterbury, and most of it consumed in Rhode Island. The brass and German silver parts of all, or nearly all the watches manufactured in the United States, are also made in Waterbury.

Senator Sumner appears upon the lecture platform this season to a much greater extent than ever before. He will speak almost every night until December 3, having twenty-one engagements in New England and sixteen outside of it, in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. His lecture is entitled "The Question of Caste."

A Wall street speculator returning home the other evening, in no enviable state of mind, thus announced the result of his operations to the family group: "No more silk dresses this winter, my dear; no more balls and parties, no more opera boxes, and, then warming with his subject, no more internal winings and dinings and no more d——d nonsense of any sort, Matilda."

To show how taxation has been reduced since the close of the war we give an extract from a speech recently delivered by Gen. Garfield of Ohio: "When the war ended," said he, "in 1865 the Government was taxing you fully. Yes, your taxes were $[illegible] The next year Congress reduced them to $490,000,000, the next year to $400,000,000 and the year just closed in June to $300,000,000."

The impetus given of late years to cotton cultivation in the East Indies is remarkable. The natives begin to appreciate the fact that it pays them better to produce cotton, which fetches 10d a pound in the market, than the staple millet of the country which scarcely enables them to "keep body and soul together." In 1860 the cotton exported from India was worth about £4,560,000 sterling. This year's crop is estimated at £20,149,825. Inferior as India cotton always will be to the varieties produced in this country it has been much improved in quality by care in cultivation and packing.

TUESDAY MORNING OCTOBER 26 1869

What the Railroad is Doing

The San Francisco Times of the 21st inst gives a list of importations into that city by the Pacific railroad from the 1st to the 18th of the current month in which we find enumerated almost every species of merchandise and manufactures that can be imagined It is interesting to observe that the list not only embraces many articles of the simplest manufacture but also includes a large number of farm products Along with plows wagons blankets and boots come eggs butter hams bacon, fish, lard hops and cheese A steady stream of goods of nearly every description is coming by the railroad and Eastern merchants are not only supplying the whole country lying along the route but are actually pouring their wares into San Francisco to compete with those goods obtained by the merchants of that city from other sources of supply Such a fact as this tells what is the matter with the trade of California The Times it is gratifying to observe, comprehends the facts of the situation and is boldly prescribing the remedy It truly says that the manufacturers of the Pacific coast who are obliged to pay from ten to fifteen per cent for capital cannot compete with Eastern manufacturers who can get money for half this rental, and that "it is not in the matter of wages only, that our manufacturers are now in sharp competition with those of the East, but they are at an equal disadvantage in point of the capital which they are compelled to borrow It concludes with these observations " If the competition with Eastern wages, on the one hand shall compel some of our manufacturers to suspend their operations till the two scales of wages shall approach each other, so the competition with Eastern capital will, on the other hand, tend to prevent their resuming operations until our rate of interest shall approximate theirs. On all hands we see that our Japanesque isolation is broken down, and the whole world is turning the screw which shall bring us to the general level Of course these observations are also true of Oregon, though it will probably take longer to bring about in our State the changes in dicated

Uncharitable Reformers

"It is becoming a problem worthy the attention of the moral philosopher," says the Springfield (Mass ) Republican, "to discover why the advocacy of sumptuary laws tends to generate in the mind the most violent quality of intolerance" We learn from a New York journal that ex Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey took the opportunity recently afforded him at a Republican meeting to make some common sense remarks on the tendency of extremists of this sort to compel everybody else to accept their own doctrines One man finds that if he drinks wines or spirits he invariably is led into excess. After a time he resolves to banish stimulating drinks from his table, and, under the circumstances, he acts wisely But then he immediately wishes to prohibit the use of strong drinks by all the rest of the world, even by men who know how to use them in moderation. Brown cannot drink without degrading himself below the level of the beasts of the field, and therefore he would compel Smith to drink nothing stronger than water This sort of zeal may be very well meant, but it is in reality the worst form of intolerance, and Senator Frelinghuysen justly points out that it invariably fails in accomplishing its purpose The aversion which ought to be felt for the vice aimed at is diverted to the restrictive laws There is nothing strictly new, perhaps, in this view of the question, but as the extremists still carefully ignore it, Mr. Frelinghuysen does well to urge it afresh on public attention

Within Three Years.

The energy with which work is being prosecuted on the "Oregon and California Railroad," north of Marysville, shows that the original idea of a direct line of railway to unite the two States is adhered to One thousand men are now employed in that locality, and the assurance is given that the work will be pushed on, as rapidly as possible, to the Oregon line. The California company have sufficient resources to insure the construction of the road without much delay, if they only resolve to do it As for this end of the route, a very fair beginning is being made this year There is little reason to doubt that within eighteen months a railway will be completed from this city to the head of the Wallamet valley Eighteen months more should suffice to extend it to the California line By that time the California company should reach the point of junction Thus within three years, if the work shall go on as now seems probable, we may be connected with California by a direct and continuous line of railway. It would certainly seem that it is the intention of the California company to make this connection as soon as possible, else why their extensive arrangements for pushing on toward the Oregon line? The large force of laborers now employed between Marysville and Chico will be kept at work steadily during the winter It is worth while to make a note of these indications of activity since they are clearly very important steps in a great enterprise

National Thanksgiving

We print elsewhere the proclamation of President Grant recommending the observance of the 18th November as a day of national thanksgiving. Below we present some very just remarks from the New York Herald on the reasons for this acknowledgment of national blessings at this time

The President says the year which is drawing to a close has been free from pestilence that health has prevailed throughout the land that abundant crops reward the labors of the husbandman that commerce and manufactures have successfully prosecuted their peaceful paths that the mines and forests have yielded liberally and that the nation has increased in wealth and strength Upon each one of these specifications a valuable book might be compiled from the comparative statistics of the general health prosperity, wealth and strength of the nation In all these essentials to the happiness and progress of a great people we stand to day without a parallel in the history of any nation of ancient or modern times.

The President also reminds us that peace has prevailed and that its blessings have advanced the interests of the people in every part of the Union that harmony and fraternal intercourse are obliterating the marks of the past conflict and estrangement, that burdens have been lightened and means increased and that civil and religious liberty is secured to every inhabitant of the land, whose soil is trod by none but freemen

The Salem Press, in its final expiring number, cries aloud once more for the taxation of national bonds. Why don't some of the writers of this class apply for a patent on their profound discovery which enables a people to get rich by taxing what they owe? Wonder if Beriah is the original genius who lifted himself over a five-board fence by his waistband?

In General

An unparalleled outrage on the [illegible] is reported to have occurred at the State Fair A Chinaman did the best plowing that was done on the ground Here is material for the next Sunday Leader Why hasn't such a powerful argument against the pagan races been turned to account before this

The Alaska Times in alluding to the complains of trade restrictions in that territory. An order is in force prohibiting the shipment of liquors arms and ammunition to Alaska and the Times says that these and other arbitrary regulations are driving all the Indian trade into the hands of the Hudson's Bay Company

We have no doubt that the defeat of A J for Senator in Tennessee will make many of his admirers howl They had set their hearts on having the burly blackguard in the Senate and for two months have been chuckling with great glee over the prospect of it The Oregon Herald which has had a ling editorial or two on the subject should now out of respect to A J's memory put on the trappings and the suits of woe

A letter from General Sherman was read at the Oswego (N Y ) Railroad Convention in which the opinion was given that one transcontinental railroad with feeders converging to the main line would fully answer all the demands of commerce and travel for the next fifty years This opinion excited the astonishment of the Convention Several members expressed themselves unable to understand how the man who showed so much foresight with regard to the number of men required to suppress the rebellion should exhibit so erroneous an idea of the future demands of American commerce

Our Democratic brethren of the press finding that the great reaction which they had predicted against the Fifteenth Amendment is having a hard road to travel, are reduced to the poor employment of figuring up great gains in Cincinnati where a portion of the Republicans united with the Democrats in routing a 'ring' that was controlling the Republican party The Press of Salem, and the Democrat of Albany are figuring on this problem with as much earnestness as if they expected to find in it full comfort for the utter defeat of their party in half a dozen States It is very rare indeed that a table so scantily spread furnishes a repast that can be partaken of with such a relish

How to Pay the National Debt

We quote an instructive passage from the address delivered to the farmers of Ulster county, N Y at the Fair in Kingston by the Democratic Governor Hoffman He said

Our country, notwithstanding the great debt which rests upon it, cannot fail to grow rich and prosperous if our people will be economical The extravagance of the age in which we live, however, must be checked or with the corruption and demoralization which attend it, will come disaster and distress There is no estate so large that a spendthrift cannot exhaust it There is no people so powerful that extravagance and corruption cannot destroy them Our exports of the great staples will bring neither national nor individual wealth, if they go only to pay for luxuries which enervate and corrupt Far be it from me to deny any man or woman the enjoyment of anything which will contribute to his or her peace and happiness But the nation is in debt twenty five hundred millions of dollars—more than a thousand millions of which is held by the people of other lands. What the nation owes, the people owe, and what the people owe, each individual owes for we are sureties and bondsmen for our country and for each other. Bondsmen, indeed! and who is so much a bondsman as the debtor? There is no way to get out of debt but one either for nations or for individuals A man cannot pay his debts by giving his note, nor can any Government pay its obligations by the issue of irredeemable paper There is but one standard of value and that has been fixed by the common consent of the world and by that standard must all debtors ultimate be judged As no quack remedies can remove deep seated diseases, so no ingeniously devised financial schemes can point out any but the one way to pay a nation's debt When a man has violated the laws of health and finds his system broken, and his powers weakened, there is no medical specific which can save him He must cease the practice of his dissipation and folly He must nurse his exhausted energies He must economize his wasted strength He must develop, as best he can, his physical powers

So it is with our country, which has been called upon for profuse expenditures It has within it elements of strength and the means to meet all its obligations, fully and fairly, if it will, but it must diminish its expenses as well as increase its revenues It must labor in earnest and economize in earnest If a farmer owes $1,000, the payment of which is secured by a mortgage, he can pay it if he will, by his labor and out of his land If he neglect his farm, if he and his sons and daughters are extravagant and wasteful if family discord destroy the peace of his home if a reckless dissipation characterizes his life he will add to his obligation and will not pay his debt. So with the nation The labor of the country, and the great area of its territory, upon which the whole national indebtedness is a lien, can sustain the credit of the Government and pay its obligations But if the people, who are the laborers are extravagant and idle, if strife, discord and contention shall prevail among them if passion and folly, instead of judgement and good sense shall control them, if hatred rather than love of one another and of their common country shall move them, then the national honor will be imperiled. I have read many learned essays on the question of 'How to Pay the National Debt" When men ask me what financial theory I have, I answer, Only one, and it is this A union of people and of States a hearty joining together of all sections in the common work of re-establishment and restoration, industry, prudence, retrenchment and economy Increase your earnings, diminish your expenditures Save when you can and spend only when you must and let the whole world see that you mean to pay your debts

If the people are extravagant the Government will be The stream cannot rise higher than its source—The representative will not be better than those he represents Other peoples have sunk under the crushing weight of individual and general extravagance and folly Let us take warning by their examples and in doing so avoid their fate

The Oakland (Cal ) Transcript a Democratic paper, is reluctantly forced to admit that the recent election show that the Republican strength is unbroken and praised the adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment. They will have great effect upon the contest in New York encouraging and strengthening the Republicans there

RUMORED EXPRESS ARRANGEMENTS A dispatch says the Bulletin a rumor was current that the States Express Company had made arrangements [illegible] cure the exclusive right to do an express business [illegible] Union and Pacific Railroads and the [illegible] made to occupy the entire field upon this coast [illegible] no room for Wells, Fargo & Co Many people [illegible] lieved that such a change would shortly occur [illegible] Wells Fargo & Co would disappear from the [illegible] have so long occurred The report that is now [illegible] upon the streets and among those who might [illegible] posed to [illegible] whatever information has been [illegible] is as follows The the United States Express [illegible] did originally intend to compete with Wells, Fargo [illegible] for the entire trade of the Pacific coast, and had [illegible] special privileges or contract which would have given [illegible] the control if not the monopoly of the express [illegible] upon the whole or at least the eastern half of [illegible] road

Wells, Fargo & Co. however, determined [illegible] the [illegible] they now have and set apart a million [illegible] half of dollars with which to meet any losses in [illegible] the course of the competition The United States [illegible] press Company then thinking it cheaper to [illegible] than to wage a war so expensive and interminable [illegible] promised to be against a popular and well [illegible] company for trade that after all might hardly [illegible] as outlay made an arrangement by which Wells [illegible] & Co are to retain all their own business [illegible] Lake and perform that of the United States [illegible] also, or their agencies are in fact to be those of the [illegible] States Express Company wherever they are [illegible] lished It is said that the junction between the [illegible] will probably be Omaha, east of which [illegible] States Express Company alone will have its [illegible] and west of which Wells Fargo & Co's agents [illegible] the business No arrangements have been made [illegible] Pacific Union Express Company but an active [illegible] that will be waged with it as heretofore.

WEATHERWISE [illegible] —Everybody [illegible] been disappointed at the duration of the present spell of pleasant weather which they had [illegible] calculated upon and everybody's prophesies [illegible] proved as [illegible] as the fabric of a dream [illegible] that weather wise people are no smarter [illegible] than other folks, everybody has [illegible] way and most industriously failed to [illegible] what will be the weather hereafter This [illegible] there is still a heap of human nature in [illegible] [illegible] does he convince him that all people [illegible] vanities than he fails to prophesying, as though [illegible] and eternal happiness were hanging upon [illegible] thing right the first time after twenty failures [illegible] weather wisest man in the State had not [illegible] spell, and now because it has come and [illegible] his theories, he can't rest till he has put on [illegible] wise [illegible] sations on the prevailing infinity [illegible] his deductions from what he sees in the air on [illegible] and under the earth. The weather wise man [illegible] ago predicted early rains continued rains, [illegible] catastrophes The early rains don't [illegible] weather wise man emboldened by the [illegible] doctrine goes confidently to prognosticating [illegible] rains won't come nor the floods either; but [illegible] thing of the catastrophe [illegible] seems to be forced [illegible] dried up. That's what's coming if the weather [illegible] can be relied upon He has [illegible] twenty times, but what of that? He must go [illegible] after awhile if only by accident. In a multitude [illegible] sels there is safety and we say certainly, [illegible] we are having delightful weather; because we [illegible] multitude say so yesterday And by the same [illegible] will continue a week or two [illegible] for, we [illegible] multitude say that All we know certainly, [illegible] is that the weather will remain pleasant till it [illegible] and if anybody ever made a better prediction we [illegible] made aware of it.

ONE FINE CHARACTER.—There was a good [illegible] last evening to see The Female Gambler—[illegible] play of plotting, counterplotting and love, [illegible] not quite satisfactory to the audience [illegible] Carter sustained the difficult character of Marie [illegible] Gauge very creditably, rising in many of the passages [illegible] an intensity of passion we have [illegible] seen her [illegible] and of which we had hardly [illegible] her capable. [illegible] Carter personated the [illegible] double [illegible] D[illegible] [illegible] excellently well. It is one of the [illegible] [illegible] of characters, but he played the villain [illegible] villain that he was complimented by a call [illegible] curtain, as was also, Mrs. Carter Mr Bates' [illegible] artistic and finished while Mr Moulton's [illegible] is pretty good. The farce of "The Youth who [illegible] saw a Woman," brought down the house with [illegible] and laughter Mrs Carter, Miss Cameron [illegible] Mrs Bird appeared to particular advantage. [illegible] as a [illegible] boy and Mrs Bird's Gertrude [illegible] hard to beat.

To-night will be presented Bourcicault's great [illegible] drama of "The Streets of New York"—one of the finest sensational plays of the age. For synopsis [illegible] and plot see the advertising column [illegible]

RISE OF VALUES AT EAST PORTLAND —Among [illegible] [illegible] of the near prospective building [illegible] East Side Railroad is the great rise in the value [illegible] estate. Notwithstanding such property went up [illegible] leaping as many people thought, last year, it [illegible] this year quite as much from its last year's [illegible] know of one block on the bank of the river near [illegible] Frush residence, which was sold about two months [illegible] at what was then thought a high figure We do not [illegible] the exact figures The [illegible] has been lately almost as much for a lot as he then gave [illegible] block and the whole block is situated where a [illegible] water overflows it. This however, is not considered [illegible] affect its value, because it will be so easy in a short [illegible] build it up above high water mark All the [illegible] the front of East Portland are to-day holding [illegible] and blocks as high as if there were never such a [illegible] as overflow—and they will or may all get their [illegible] They expect the river bank as it shows at low [illegible] be the front of the city to grow up within the [illegible] years, and there is really no [illegible] to believe [illegible] expectations will not be realized. It will not be [illegible] instance where [illegible] extravagant expectations [illegible] realized even in Oregon.

RAILROAD WORK —There are three or four [illegible] hands at work upon the railroad at East Portland [illegible] engaged in grading at the wharf, another in cons[illegible] a turn table to be situated a few rods from the [illegible] to connect the track on the wharf with the [illegible] and the third in filling and both [illegible] the Pioneers' old base ball ground Two [illegible] days will suffice to complete the [illegible] of grading [illegible] so to connect with that part of the road graded [illegible] since. This end of the road [illegible] of course [illegible] through the field where ground was broken, has [illegible] located and graded turning towards the river [illegible] the machine shops and coming down on the river [illegible] above Mr Stephens' residence near Brooklyn.

Express Arrangements —A short time ago says the Bulletin, a rumor was current that the United States Express Company had made arrangements to secure the exclusive right to do an express business on the Union and Pacific Railroads and that an effort would be made to occupy the entire field upon this coast, and leave no room for Wells, Fargo & Co. Many people fully believed that such a change would shortly occur and that Wells, Fargo & Co would disappear from the field they have so long occupied The report that is now current in the streets, and among those who might be supposed to [illegible] whatever information has been divulged is as follows: That the United States Express Company did intend to compete with Wells Fargo & Co for the entire trade of the Pacific coast and had secured such privileges or contract which would have given them the control, if not the monopoly of the express business upon the whole, or, at least, the eastern half of the rail[illegible]

Wells, Fargo & Co. however determined to fight [illegible] they now have and set apart a million and a half of dollars with which to meet any losses incurred in the course of the competition The United States Express Company then thinking it cheaper to compromise than to wage a war so expensive and interminable as this would be, against a popular and well established company, for trade that after all might hardly justify such an outlay, made an arrangement by which Wells Fargo & Co. are to retain all their own business west of Salt Lake and [illegible] from that of the United States Express Company [illegible] their agencies are in fact to be those of the United States Express Company wherever they are now established. It is said that the junction between the two companies will probably be Omaha east of which the United States Express Company alone will have its connections and west of which Wells Fargo & Co s agents will do [illegible] No arrangements have been made with the Pacific Union Express Company but an active competition will be waged with it as heretofore.

Weatherwise Prognostications —Everybody having been disgusted at the duration of the present long spell of [illegible] weather which they had not calculated upon, and everybody a prophesier having [illegible] as the fabric of a [illegible] show [illegible] weatherwise people are no sharper or more [illegible] than other folks, everybody has straight [illegible] industriously fallen to prognosticating [illegible] be the weather hereafter This shows that there is still a heap of human nature in a man No [illegible] can convince himself that all prophesying is [illegible] he fails to prophesying, as though his life [illegible] happiness were hanging upon guessing a [illegible] the first time after twenty failures. The [illegible] man in the State had not expected the [illegible] and now because it has come and upset all [illegible] he can't rest till he has put on record his [illegible] on the prevailing infallible signs and [illegible] from what he sees in the air on the water and under the earth. The weatherwise man a month [illegible] early rains, continued rains floods and [illegible] The early rains don't come, and the [illegible] man, emboldened by the success of his pre[illegible] goes confidently to prognosticating that the [illegible] come, nor the floods either, but he bates [illegible] of the catastrophes we are to be frozen up and [illegible] That's what's a coming if the weatherwise man can be relied upon. He has guessed exactly wrong [illegible] but what of that? He must guess right [illegible] if only by accident In a multitude of counsel [illegible] safety and we suppose, certainty therefore [illegible] having delightful weather, because we heard a [illegible] a day And by the same token it [illegible] a week or two weeks; for, we heard a [illegible] say that All we know certainly, however [illegible] the weather will remain pleasant till it changes and [illegible] ever made a better prediction we were not [illegible] of it.

Circuit Court, Washington County —The following [illegible] disposed of at the term of the Circuit Court [illegible] county, last week

Theater.—There was a good house out [illegible] to see "The Female Gambler"—a French [illegible] counterplottings and love, with a de[illegible] satisfactory to the audience Mrs [illegible] difficult character of Marie de Fon[illegible] ability, rising in many of the passages to [illegible] we have seldom seen her exhibit, [illegible] so had hardly supposed her capable Mr [illegible] the hunchbacked double plotter M [illegible] excellently well. It is one of the most un[illegible] but he played the villain so like a [illegible] was complimented by a call before the [illegible] was also, Mrs. Carter Mr Bates' Fouche is [illegible] while Mr Morrison's De Newville [illegible] The farce of "The Youth who never [illegible] brought down the house with great ap[illegible] Mrs Carter, Miss Cummings and [illegible] to particular advantage. [illegible] will be presented Boucicault's great five [illegible] The Streets of New York"—one of the [illegible] plays of the age. For synopsis of [illegible] see the advertising columns of the Ore[illegible]

Property at East Portland —Among the first [illegible] of the near prospective building of the [illegible] is the great rise in the value of real [illegible] Notwithstanding such property went up [illegible] people thought, last year it has risen [illegible] from its last year's base We [illegible] block on the bank of the river near the old [illegible] which was sold about two months ago [illegible] was then thought a high figure—we do not recol[illegible] figures. The purchaser has been offered [illegible] for a lot as he then gave for the [illegible] whole block is situated where very high [illegible] This, however, is not considered to [illegible] it will be so easy in a short time to [illegible] high water mark All the owners on [illegible] East Portland are to-day holding their lots [illegible] as high as if there were never such a thing as [illegible] and they will or may all get their prices [illegible] the river bank as it shows at low water to [illegible] front of the city to grow up within the next few [illegible] and there is really no reason to believe that their [illegible] will not be realized. It will not be the first [illegible] where "extravagant expectations" have been [illegible] even in Oregon.

[illegible] Work There are three or four gangs of [illegible] work upon the railroad at East Portland—one [illegible] the wharf, another in constructing [illegible] to be situated a few rods from the wharf and [illegible] the track on the wharf with the main line; [illegible] the third, is filling, and building trestles, just oppo[illegible] the old base ball ground Two or three [illegible] to complete these sections of grading so [illegible] with that part of the road graded sometime [illegible] this end of the road, instead of coming down [illegible] the field where ground was broken has been re[illegible] graded, turning towards the river out near [illegible] shops, and coming down on the river bank [illegible] Stephens' residence, near Brooklyn

[illegible] —The following is the list of the [illegible] of freight per bark H W Almy: Henry Fall [illegible] & Davis Quackenbush & Co, E Eckelso [illegible] & Co, R Irving, E Milwain E Martin, Knapp [illegible] & Co, Diamond F, 15 cans oil C L Parker French [illegible] Northrup & Co, O P T L B, Jackson Sander [illegible] Hodge, Calef & Co H & P, L & W Smith [illegible] Smith, Ben Holladay C & E Uzafovage & [illegible] & Co, W & F Millard & Van Schuyver [illegible] Lewis, Hawley Dodd & Co I O O F, Mrs B [illegible] Bros, L S & Co J R Ralston W W [illegible] E M & Co, C C Smart, J W Brock T C [illegible] J B Rev J Dillon C S Silver C & M [illegible] Co, Diamond V F & G

[illegible] Berries.—Several of the up-country papers [illegible] blowing about an odd crops of potatoes peas [illegible] That is nothing We have before us several [illegible] of the "Long-Armed Cluster" variety of rasp[illegible] from the garden of Mr Thos Stevens, of this city [illegible] are full of fruit in all stages of growth from the [illegible] bloom to the fully developed and ripe [illegible] The briars have been bearing in that manner [illegible] as well as having done excellent service due [illegible] months It is safe enough to say that [illegible] crop of ripe berries is the [illegible] of this season If this pleasant weather holds out [illegible] Stevens may look for several more crops yet Talk [illegible] crops!

Filling Up.—Few people are aware of the rapidity [illegible] which all the lands along the river subject to over[illegible] are filling up by deposit of sand and mud The [illegible] at East Portland show deposits of three or [illegible] in depth within the last twelve or fifteen years [illegible] deposit of each year is as plainly marked as are the [illegible] in a fir tree when sawed across An old settler [illegible] the other day of this matter remarked that [illegible] of the lake at the north end of the city is [illegible] five feet higher than when he first came to Portland—that is, it has filled with sediment to the depth of five feet.

Statement from a Potato Grower —Mr Manroe Sul[illegible] of Cathlamet W T writes Oct 22d I a beat [illegible] Mr George Humphrey, your Lane county farmer in the potato line. His potato weighed four pounds six ounces [illegible] I grubbed out a potato two or three days ago that weighed five and a half pounds I will bet the oysters for all hands that I can beat Mr Humphrey or any other man, in the great Webfoot Nation in the potato line next year. We hope some of our Webfoot farmers will take up this challenge If we don't have some large potatoes up will, at least have the oysters all round

Vessels in Port —There are now at our wharves the [illegible] ships Moses Taylor Gussie Telfair and George S Wright, the barks H W Almy Hattie C Besse, Ade[illegible] Elwood, Cambridge and the schooner Walter Raleigh. The Taylor is discharging freight from San Francisco the Wright from Victoria and the Telfair [illegible] for Victoria The Besse is loading for China [illegible] for Liverpool. The Almy discharging from San Francisco and Cambridge from Honolulu Raleigh awaiting charter

Gone to Oregon City —Judge Upton and several [illegible] lawyers went up to Oregon City yesterday to [illegible] the session of the Circuit Court for Clackamas county

Personal —Mr Wm B Carter of the Corvallis Gazette having been elected at the late session of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars Grand Worthy Secretary of that body has been staying in this city since last Friday engaged in receiving the books papers and property of the office from his predecessor and in preparing them for shipment He finds himself surprised at the magnitude of the job of turning [illegible] as the trade is called He will leave for Corvallis this morning

Circus —Wilson's Great World Circus returned last evening from the Dalles and will give a performance at the old place—corner of Fourth and [illegible] streets this evening [illegible] fine feats usually presented Prof Maximillian will give one of his feats [illegible] after the [illegible] of the regular performance He announces that he will [illegible] himself without any aid from [illegible] or any other man from any [illegible]

San Francisco Market [illegible] by the steamer Moses Taylor speak of a brisk demand and for wheat for export to Australia and other foreign countries There is also [illegible] for superfine grades of flour The [illegible] says J. H. H [illegible] & Co proprietors of the City Flouring Mill have failed with liabilities to the amount of $40,000 Their assets are not expected to [illegible] more than one third of this indebtedness

Organized —The Workingmen's Protective Association organized last evening by the election of W J Burke President John D Dew John W [illegible] man and J J Murphy Vice Presidents T [illegible] Secretary R B Blum Treasurer

About sixty persons were present at the meeting

An adjourned meeting will be held on Saturday evening at seven o clock

Clothes Line Holder Mr G W Cook advertises this morning for agents to sell a very neat and simple arrangement for fastening clothes lines without tying a knot Of these lines can be put up or taken down tight and are reckoned in a [illegible] These fasteners can be [illegible] any fence [illegible] We have seen [illegible] believe they have all the merits claimed for them

Great Pool Race —On Thursday there will be a [illegible] race at the Riverside track [illegible] General Richard Knapp's black mare, and She [illegible] Mohawk —trotting in harness mile heats best three in five This will make an exciting race

Full —The principal hotels of the city are full with constant and large arrivals The floating population is very much larger than at any time last year and the indications are that it will so remain during the winter

Returned —Capt Craig stationed at Ft Vancouver who has been absent a couple of months on leave of absence returned by the last steamer He is much improved in health for the benefit of which he went east

Steamer Sold —It is stated that the steamer Wilson G Hunt plying on Puget Sound has been sold to Geo S Wright who is owner also in the Eliza Anderson and that opposition on the Sound has ceased

Freight from San Francisco —The bark Almy brought 600 tons merchandise and railroad iron

The steamship Moses Taylor brought about 800 tons, of which 200 tons are railroad iron

The First Spike —The Moses Taylor will go over this morning to East Portland for the purpose of unloading her railroad iron. The laying of rails on the temporary track will probably begin immediately

Being Repaired —The steamer John H. Couch is hauled out at the Boneyard for repairs to her hull

To Sail —The steamer Gussie Telfair will sail for Victoria at six o clock this evening

Thanksgiving Proclamation by the President

The following annual thanksgiving proclamation has been issued by the President

WASHINGTON Oct 8 1869

By the President of the United States The year which is drawing to a close has been free from pestilence Health has prevailed throughout the land Abundant crops reward the labors of the husbandman Commerce and manufactures have successfully prosecuted their peaceful paths The mines and forests have yielded liberally The nation has increased in wealth and strength Peace has prevailed and its blessings have advanced every interest of the people in every part of the Union Harmony and fraternal intercourse restored are obliterating the marks of the past conflict and estrangement Burdens have been lightened, means increased Civil and religious liberty are secured to every inhabitant of the land, whose soil is trod by none but freemen It becomes a people thus favored to make acknowledgment to the Supreme Author from whom such blessings flow of their gratitude and their dependence to render praise and thanksgiving for the same, and devoutly to implore the continuance of God s mercies

Therefore, I, Ulysses S Grant, President of the United States, do recommend that Thursday the 18th day of November next, be observed as a day of thanksgiving and of praise and of prayer to Almighty God, the Creator and the Ruler of the Universe.

And, second, I do further recommend to all the people of the United States to assemble on that day in their accustomed places of public worship and to unite in the homage and praise due to the Father of all mercy, and in fervent prayer for the continuance of the merciful blessings He has vouchsafed to us as people

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed this the fifth day of October, A D one thousand eight hundred and sixty nine and of the independence of the United States of America the ninety fourth

U S GRANT

Ex President Pierce.

REMARKS OF EASTERN JOURNALS ON HIS DEATH

[From the New York Herald

The pro-slavery Southern Democratic oligarchy hailed the election of Pierce as a license for the extinction of Northern abolitionists and their heresies, and President Pierce became their compliant instrument. In the hands of such dictatorial Southern leaders as Mason and Slidell in the Senate and Jeff Davis in the Cabinet President Pierce was as clay in the hands of the potter. He became a willing colaborer in the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, in that disastrous Kansas-Nebraska bill of 1854, which opened the territory north of the Missouri free line of 36 30 to the introduction of slavery. Then followed the bloody struggle between slavery men and anti-slavery men for the possession of Kansas, and this was the overture to the great rebellion. From the ruins of the old whig party and from the freesoil elements of the Democratic party the new republican party arose and rapidly came into power. With its success in Lincoln's election in 1860 South Carolina opened the ball of secession, and we need not here repeat the consequences.

The administration of Franklin Pierce, then, stands on the dividing line between the old and the new order of things—between the reign of slavery and the new regime of liberty. He might have extended the reign of slavery for ten or twenty years longer, but it was not so ordained. As the instrument of the Southern oligarchy, his policy was disastrous to the South and to the Democratic party; but let us be content with the conclusion that it was all for the best. He not only believed in the Democratic party, but his faith was strong in the rights and the power of the Southern slavery oligarchy. His political vision was limited. He saw not the tremendous revolution he was invoking, and he probably died under the firm conviction that there can be no peace until we are all restored to "the Union as it was." He belonged to a past age. His administration was a great mistake, looking to the interests of slavery.

[From the New York Times.]

Mr. Pierce, having come into the Presidency with an overwhelming majority, might have made a great and memorable Administration, if the stuff had been in him. But he was essentially a weak man, although he had the good sense to constitute a reasonably strong Cabinet. Mr. Marcy was Secretary of State; Mr. Guthrie, of the Treasury, and Jefferson Davis, of War. He respected Marcy and Guthrie, and feared Davis, who ruled the War Department, and shaped the civil administration with a rod of iron. Unfortunately, Stephen A. Douglas, ambitious, impulsive, and lacking the foresightedness of true statesmanship, which he subsequently acquired by experience, entered the lists for the succession, and mounted the unfortunate hobby of the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. His Kansas-Nebraska bill was forced through the Senate, and rushed through the House of Representatives. Its success fired the anti-slavery sentiment of the North; it disgusted, everywhere, the old Whig friends of Henry Clay, the author of the Missouri Compromise of 1821, and it gave rise to the Republican party. This party was practically in a majority in the house of Representatives before the Presidential term of Mr. Pierce expired. They interposed no factious opposition to the ordinary administration of national affairs, but they caused the President to go out of office with little credit to himself, leaving a legacy of trouble to his successor, Buchanan, growing out of the Kansas question. This finally brought his Administration into universal execration, and the country into a war for the maintenance of its own unity.

[From the Boston Advertiser.]

Mr. Pierce came into office under auspices of the most promising character. His political friends who had been beaten in the race buried their griefs. The only question which threatened disturbance of the public tranquility both parties agreed not to agitate. The great domestic misfortune which befell him just after his election excited the sympathy of the country. His amiable manners, his affectionate disposition, and his reputed fidelity, commended him to the favorable and lenient judgement of those who had no part in his election. But stronger minds than his were above and around him; and from the facility with which their plans were carried forward it seemed as if his election was a deliberate part of their grand scheme of revolution, which culminated in unspeakable disaster seven or eight years later. "The bill halted," said the organs of the Nebraska conspiracy, "till the administration put its shoulder to the wheel." What means were taken to secure that result, what pressure was brought to bear upon the President's judgment, what threats were employed, and what persuasives were resorted to when threats would not avail, were the subject of infinite political gossip during the whole of his administration, and subsequently when their purpose was more fully disclosed. But the history can never be accurately written till future biographers disclose the secrets of the misguiding statesman who gave to his administration its fatal direction and character.

[From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.]

General Pierce was a frank, generous, gentlemanly man, with little strength of character, many temptations, and the worst possible advisers. Of late years his inveterate habits have preyed upon his good constitution. The friendship which always existed between him and his college classmate, Hawthorne, will be the most pleasing feature in his history when it shall be written in after years; it was strong and disinterested, we believe, on both sides, though a great many people doubt it. General Pierce was with Hawthorne in his sudden death at Plymouth, and gave the best counsel he could to his friend's bereaved family. He will leave no family himself, his wife and son having died years ago. The country will lose nothing by his death.

Two prominent Chinese merchants, who had just returned from a trip to Chicago and New York, where they had been hospitably received, were recently hissed out of a San Francisco theater by the Mongol Democracy. Though we do not see their names mentioned, we assume that they were our late illustrious visitors, Sing Man and Choy Chew, Esqs., and that the ground of the animosity felt toward them by the San Francisco Democracy was the courtesies shown to them in the Eastern cities. The Democratic party in California advocate the same exclusive policy toward the Chinese, as the Chinese, at home, have for three thousand years practiced toward the outside world. Whatever argument arises from this exclusiveness, that the Chinese are inferior to Europeans, would place the Democracy of California at a great disadvantage compared with the Chinese.—Chicago Tribune.

WALLS MADE WATER-PROOF.—The Ransome process of making artificial stone has been applied by the inventor to the rendering of the walls of buildings water-proof. They are first washed with silicate of soda, which is applied until the bricks are saturated. The strength of the solution is regulated by the character of the bricks,—a heavier mixture being used upon porous walls. After the silicate has become thoroughly absorbed, a solution of chloride of calcium is applied, which, immediately combining with the silicate, forms a perfectly insoluble compound, which completely fills up all the interstices in the brick or stone, without in any way altering its original appearance. By this operation the wall is rendered perfectly water-tight, and, as the pores of the bricks are filled for a considerable depth, no subsequent process is necessary.

Chicago, by the offer of liberal salaries, is not only drawing from the eastern cities not a few of the most able divines of all denominations, but is erecting costly and splendid churches for them. During the year 1869, there have been twenty-one churches commenced or finished, costing nearly $1,000,000. The most expensive of these are St. John's Episcopal, on Reuben street, near Madison, to cost $100,000, Trinity Methodist, at the corner of Indiana avenue and Twenty-first street costing $100,000, and to accommodate 1,400 people; the Union Park Congregational Church, now in progress and costing $130,000; Unity Church, at the corner of Dearborn and Whiting streets, which cost $150,000; and Grace Episcopal, which cost $103,000.

United States Supreme Court

The subjoined biographies of the eight members of the old Supreme Court are historically interesting

SALMON P. CHASE.

He was born in Cornish, New Hampshire, January 13, 1808. His education began at home, and was continued at the schools and academies of New Hampshire and central Ohio, and completed at the Cincinnati College and at Dartmouth, in New Hampshire, graduating in 1826. He studied law in Washington City with William Wirt, and practiced his profession in Cincinnati, Ohio, for many years. His first public post on was that of school examiner in Cincinnati, in 1839, in 1840 he was a city councilman, in 1848 he projected what was called a Liberty Convention, was a member of the Free Soil Convention held at Buffalo in 1848, and was a senator in Congress from Ohio, from 1849 to 1855, and elected Governor of Ohio in 1855, and reelected in 1857. In 1860 he was again chosen a Senator in Congress, but the day after he took his seat he was appointed Secretary of the Treasury to President Lincoln's Cabinet, but resigned in September, 1864. It was while the country was passing through the trials of the rebellion that the national finances were successfully carried through under his administration. He was a member, also, of the Peace Congress of 1861. On the 6th of December, 1864, he was appointed by President Lincoln Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, to succeed R. B. Taney. By virtue of his position as Chief Justice, he presided over the Senate while acting as a Court of Impeachment during the trial of President Andrew Johnson, in 1868.

SAMUEL NELSON.

One of the biographers calls him the oldest man on the bench. He has spent over forty five years in the judicial harness, yet his clear eye and manly frame indicate rare vigor of brain and body. He has a face of rare refinement, and his manners are those of the old school. His familiarity with decisions and practice, his thorough knowledge of the law, and his constant attention to his duties, make him one of the pillars of the court, while his polished address and genial nature have established him as one of the favorites of Washington society.

NATHAN CLIFFORD.

He was born in Rumney, Grafton county, N. H., August 18, 1803. He fitted for college at the Haverhill Academy, and completed his education at the Hampton Literary Institution. He studied law, and after being admitted to the bar, removed to Maine in 1827. He was elected to the Legislature from York county, in 1830, and re-elected for three years, during the last two occupying the post of Speaker. In 1834 he was appointed Attorney General for the State of Maine, which office he held for four years; and he was a Representative in Congress from 1839 to 1843. In 1846 he was appointed by President Polk, Attorney General of the United States, which office he held until March, 1847, when he was appointed Commissioner to Mexico. When peace was declared between the United States and Mexico, he was appointed Minister to that Republic. On his return to the United States he settled in Portland, devoting himself to his profession; and in 1858 was appointed by President Buchanan an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

DAVID DAVIS.

He was born in Cecil county, Maryland, March 9, 1815. graduated at Kenyon College, Ohio, in 1832; studied law in Massachusetts, and went through a legal course at the law school at New Haven; in 1835 he removed to Illinois, and was immediately admitted to the bar, and soon afterwards settled in Bloomington; in 1844 he was elected to the State Legislature; in 1847 to the convention which formed the present State constitution; in 1848 he was elected by the people Judge of the Eighth Judicial Circuit of the State, re-elected in 1855, and also in 1861, but, before completing his last term, he was appointed by President Lincoln a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. He was for many years the intimate friend of Abraham Lincoln, rode the circuit with him every year, and he was a delegate at large to the Chicago Convention of 1860, which nominated Mr. Lincoln for President. Just before entering upon his duties as Justice of the Supreme Court he was appointed a visitor to the West Point Academy.

STEPHEN J. FIELD.

He was born in Haddam, Connecticut, November 4, 1816, and his father was David Dudley Field; while yet a youth he traveled in Europe and the East; graduated at Williams College in 1837; studied law in New York city, with his brother David Dudley, with whom he formed a law partnership; in 1848 he made a second visit to Europe; towards the close of 1849 he went to California; in January, 1850, he was elected first Alcalde of the city of Marysville, and continued the practice of his profession; in October of the same year he was elected to the Legislature, where he took a leading part in moulding the judiciary of the State; in 1857 he was elected a Judge of the Supreme Court of California for six years, and was elevated to the position of Chief Justice; and in 1863 was appointed by President Lincoln, a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. In the discharge of his official duties he is obliged to travel annually over 13,000 miles. He is a brother of Cyrus W. Field, the distinguished projector of the Atlantic telegraph.

ROBERT C. GRIER.

He was born in Cumberland county, Pennsylvania, March 5, 1794; graduated at Dickinson College in 1812; studied law, and came to the bar in 1817, practicing his profession in Northumberland, Columbia, Lycoming, Union and Schuylkill counties; was appointed president judge of Allegheny county in 1833, when he became a resident of Pittsburg; and in 1846 he was appointed, by President Polk, an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, and since 1848 he has been a resident of Philadelphia.

SAMUEL F. MILLER.

He was born in Richmond, Ky., April 5, 1816; graduated at the University of Transylvania, and, after taking the degree of Doctor of Medicine, practiced the profession a few years, and then turned his attention to the law; having been from 1848 in favor of emancipation, and, though generally taking no part in politics, the course of public affairs caused him to remove from the State in 1850, when he settled in Iowa and became one of the leaders of the Republican party in that State; desiring no local or State offices, and declining many nominations, he attended wholly to his profession, and in 1862 was appointed by President Lincoln a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

NOAH SWAYNE.

This gentleman is still in fine health, though verging on sixty. He had a high professional character when he was appointed in 1862, and he has sustained it since he took his seat in this elevated court. Justice Swayne, like Justice Miller, is especially endeared to the progressive statesmen for his advanced views on jurisprudence, and the learning, brevity, and courage of his opinions. He is a great student, and outside of his profession prosecutes his researches into English literature with all the enthusiasm of a man of letters.

Breaking off a bad habit gradually is generally found to be about as encouraging as pinching off one prickle a day, with the view of exterminating a Canada thistle.

The most profound fools assume the greatest gravity, while the really wise man has his face always radiant with smiles.

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.
